SCORES COUNCIL OF DEFENSE AS GREAT BLUNDER

House Committee Head Finds It Acted Contrary to Law.

BRANDS IT AS THE SECRET GOVERNMENT OF THE NATION

Was Responsible For Inadequate Clothing For Soldiers In Camps.

Washington, July 7.—Charges that the President organized the council of national defense before war was declared in absolute violation of law and thereby created a "secret government of the United States," which formulated war legislation, dictated policies the country was to pursue, and befriended "big business" were made today by Chairman Graham of the special house committee investigating war department expenditures.

Minutes of the council were read to the committee by Mr. Graham, together with a report in which he asserted the council assumed such broad powers that Major General Goethals, former chief of the purchase, storage and traffic division of the war department, defied it; cabinet members protested against its activities and Judge Gary, president of the United States Steel corporation refusing to sanction its operation in "violation of law." Mr. Graham declared the President created the "secret government" by ignoring and reversing the intent of congress in authorizing the establishment of a council of national defense in August, 1916. As authorized by congress, he said, the council was to be composed of six members of the cabinet who were to be the real executives and seven civilians to be selected by the President who were to act in a purely advisory capacity. Instead of doing this. Mr. Graham asserted the President made the advisory commission the real executive commission "clothing them with unprecedented and almost illimitable powers."

"Behind closed doors, weeks and even months before war was declared," he said, "these seven men designated practically every war measure which congress subsequently enacted. They devised the entire system of purchasing war supplies, planned a press censorship, designed a system of food control and selected Herbert Hoover, and even determined on the daylight saving scheme.

"Conceived within the law but brought into existence in absolute violation of law, it is not surprising to find this secret government of the United States itself persistently ignoring, and even violating the law; that it is allowed interested parties to fix the prices of war supplies; that it put the people of the country in incalculable unnecessary expense and carried things with a high hand."

Mr. Graham declared that when Major General Goethals was called "at the eleventh hour to rescue the war department from the public obliquy which was fast settling upon it as a result of the methods an dincapacity of the commission he repudiated and practically defied it."

"Our soldiers were actually dying of pneumonia in the camps because of lack of proper clothing and blankets," Mr. Graham said, "and General Goethals assumed the duties of quartermaster general only on condition he should have free scope in the performance of his duties, unhampered by the council of national defense. Immediately he took from members of that council the power to order purchases and fix prices and soon dispensed with the services of those members of the advisory commission who had so deplorably bungled the control of supplies for the army."

"Judge Gary advised the advisory commission," Mr. Graham said, "that it was operating in disregard of the Sherman law, the Clayton law and all other status that are supposed to regulate business, particularly big business." When the attorney general was called on this commission to answer Judge Gary, Mr. Graham said, he answered that the matters referred to as "violations of law, were matters of 'national policy,' rather than a legal question.

"Afterwards," Mr. Graham declared, "when there was evidently a discussion in congress as to illegality of the members of the council buying from themselves the council discussed this general policy and it was suggested that 'this embarrassment' might be removed by the plan of commission reorganization now under consideration."

"The minutes show that on account of this so-called embarrassment the war authoriting board was created and committees were appointed by the national chamber of commerce, so the letter of the law might be complied with, but by which scheme no part of the method of buying was changed in the slightest degree, so far as I can observe."

Citing cases in which he said the council formulated legislation before war was declared which legislation was considered by congress, Mr. Graham declared that on February 15, 1917, the council discussed the draft system and considered a report from Commissioners Samuel Gompers and Howard E. Coffin relative to the exclusion of labor from military service, on the same day recommended that Herbert Hoover be employed by the government in connection with food control and on March 3 endorsed the daylight saving scheme and recommended a federal censorship of the press.

"About the first thing the commission did was to take up the matter of arrangement of an easy method of communication between the manufacturers and the government." Mr. Graham continued. "In several meetings long before war was declared the commission met with the representatives of the manufacturing industries and formed an organization for selling supplies to the government. "This method consisted in having the representatives of various business manufacturing products which the government would have to buy to form themselves into committees so they might be able to sell to the government direct. When war was declared this machinery began to move.

"Although this scheme was supposed to enable the industries to deal with the government as one man, the government was at no time able to deal with the industries through one man, and on the contrary, throughout the war numerous federal bureaus were bidding against each other for the same supplies, with greatly increased cost to the government.

Mr. Graham concluded his statement by saying so far as he had been able to observe from the minutes of the council, there had not been an act of the socalled war legislation which had not been discussed and settled upon by the council's advisory commission before the actual declaration of war. At times, he said, "the activities of the commission were such as greatly to embarrass the cabinet and it became necessary for the cabinet to protest against them.

Chairman Graham frequently was interrupted by members of the committee. After he had read the minutes referring to the military draft, food control and press censorship, Representative Reeves, Republican, Nebraska, asked if all this was not prior to the President's speech on armed neutrality "in which he said he was not contemplating war," and Mr. Graham answered affirmatively.

The minutes showed that Philip Patchin, chief of the state department division of foreign intelligence, first suggested a press censorship. He was described by Chairman Graham as a "free lance news correspondent." After Chairman Graham had told the committee that the minutes he had read into the report were unofficial but "substantially correct," the committee decided to call Grosvenor Clarkson, director of the council, to establish their authenticity.

SALVATION ARMY HEADQUARTERS IS ENTERED; REPORTED LOSS UNFOUNDED

Police Believe Boys Forced Way Into Office To Get Soft Drinks—Wilson Heisey Gets Ford Machine and Harry Cranston the Diamond Ring.

The Salvation Army headquarters in the old postoffice building was entered Sunday afternoon, but nothing but a few bottles of soft drinks, stored there was molested. About $50 in money was in the office but it was not touched. The report that $500 was taken was unfounded.

The double doors, which are not very secure, were easily pushed open and an entrance gained. The police believe it to be the work of boys looking for soft drinks.

Interest Saturday night was centered in the award of the Ford auto and the diamond ring which were a part of the Elks campaign to secure money for the Salvation Army. The ring was awarded to Harry Cranston. Cranston, is a motion picture operator in Newark.

The Ford machine was presented to Wison Heisey, who is with the A. H. Heisey and company. Both endeavors netted good sums for the campaign, of which about $10,000 has been secured.

CLEVELANDERS WALKING TODAY

Street Car Men Quit Jobs and All Cars Are Idle—Police Protection Inadequate.

Cleveland, July 7.—Street car serivce was again at a standstill today as a result of a strike yesterday of 2600 motormen and conductors of the Cleveland Street Railway company to enforce their demands for a wage increase of 12 cents an hour. Automobiles, special train service and conveyances of all descriptions transported passengers to their employment while thousands walked. Steam trains and bus service carried thousands to North Randall today for the opening of the grand circuit harness horse meet. Interurban cars stopped at the city limits.

Following disorders which resulted in injury to six persons when attempts were made to operate cars yesterday, J. J. Stanley, president of the street car company, announced that no cars would be taken from the barns today unless two policemen were placed on each car.

Mayor Davis replied that all protection possible is being given and that police cannot at this time be put on the 1200 cars because of the inadequatcy of the police forces.

In the event the city fails to give adequate protection Mr. Stanley said he would appeal to Governor Cox for troops. He said 600 men are ready to come to Cleveland to operate cars when protection is given. Many former conductorettes are also applicants, he said.

NO CALL FOR TROOPS.

Columbus, July 7.—At the executive office it was stated that Governor Cox had not received any request for troops either from Mayor Davis, the sheriff of Cuyahoga county or from Mr. Stanley, president of the street railway company and until such a request is made, the governor has nothing to say on the situation.

ALLIES HAVE NOT ASKED DUTCH TO GIVE UP KAISER

Bonar Law Tells Commons Steps Are Being Taken To That End.

COUNCIL OF THREE DISCUSSED WILHELM'S TRIAL IN LONDON

Paris Paper Declares Wilson Favors Plan Announced in England.

London, July 7.—The allies have not yet made any official representatives to the Dutch government regarding the extradition of the former German emperor, but necessary steps are being taken in the matter, Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman, declared in the house of commons today.

Mr. Bonar Law's statement was made in reply to a question of a member.

Answering a further question as to whether any unofficial communication had been sent to the Dutch government, Mr. Bonar Law said:

"I would rather not say."

Another member then asked:

"Is the spokesman for the government aware that nobody particularly wants the ex-kaiser to be brought here?"

This statement was received with cheers.

Paris, July 7.—The question of the trial of former Emperor William was on the program for discussion by the council of three for several days while President Wilson was still in Paris, Reuter's Paris bureau declares today in an article regarding statements by the members of the American peace mission that Premier Lloyd George's statement on the subject in the house of commons had come as a surprise ao them. The bureau, which says its information comes from authoritative conference circles adds, however, that because of more urgent business coming up discussion of the question by the council was postponed.

Nevertheless the agency declares, it is known that President Wilson had expressed himself strongly as to the place for the holding of the trial and it asserts there is every reason to believe he was fully cognizant of the decisions to try the ex-emperor in London.

YANKEE ARMY MOVES FROM RHINE REGION

Coblenz, Sunday, July 6.—Individuals and the smaller units of the old third army are losing no time in getting out of Germany. All trains are crowded with casuals, and sleeping car reservations from Coblenz to Paris are booked a week ahead.

The Fifth division began moving from Luxembourg, Friday, and the Fourth division is scheduled to leave the Rhine sector Tuesday. Next scheduled to move in the direction of home is the Second division, due to leave the east bank of the Rhine July 15. The officers club, which played an interesting part in the history of the American occupation was closed Saturday night. The club quarters were in the casino of a private German club, one of the finest on the Rhine. In the six months it was used by the Americans many notable persons were entertained, including the Prince of Wales and General Pershing, who danced with welfare workers, nurses and telephone girls in the spacious ball room. Despite efforts not to make money, the club has 200,000 marks on hand which will be divided between the Salvation Army and army relief associations handling funds for the families of enlisted men.

The Amaroc News, the army's daily newspaper, will cease publication July 15, after an existence of three months. The newspaper made money from the beginning and will quit with a surplus of more than 250,000 marks, which also will be contributed to some charitable organization interested in army work.

DIRIGIBLE IS TORN FROM MOORINGS; BAG IS DAMAGED

SOLDIERS PREVENT SHIP FROM BLOWING AWAY

Crew Plans To Start Return Trip to England Tomorrow.

Mineola, July 7.—Half an hour before the sun rises tomorrow morning the giant British dirgible R 34 will cast loose from her moorings at Roosevelt field and speed into the east, homeward bound from her historic flight across the Atlantic.

Mineola, July 7.—The R-34 was torn from her mooring rope this morning by a violent gust of wind. The cross girder to which the rope was attached broke under the strain, ripping a hole six feet by three feet in the gas bag. The giant dirigible was saved from being blown away by 300 men who seized ropes hanging from her sides and held her down with great difficulty.

Major H. G. Scott, the airship's commander announced definitely at noon that the R-34 would start on its return journey at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, flying over Boston. The R-34 will not circle New York before turning east, he said.

Major Scott announced later that an effort would be made to shape the R-34's course so that it would pass over the George Washington which is bringing President Wilson home.

The commander of the R-34 based his announcement of the starting hour on the assumption that the wind, which was blowing at the time between 20 and 25 miles an hour, would die down later in the day and so permit the refilling of the dirigible.

"We will cruise over Boston" he said, and then follow the trans-Atlantic trade route. We are selecting that course because there we will find the most favorable western wind. We had considerable trouble making our trouble at 8 o'clock but we advanced that time because the earlier we get away the lower the temperature and the lower the temperature the greater amount of petrol we can load.

The following wireless message was delivered to General Charlton today, from the British air minister:

"Please convey following message to the United States naval authorities." 'Air council desires to express their most cordial and grateful thanks for the co-operation and assistance of the United States navy tendered to His Majesty's airship R-34.'"

The message was forwarded to Secretary Daniels at Washington.

Mineola, July 7.—Lieutenant Colonel Frederick W. Lucas of the royal air force, in charge of the landing arrangements for the R-34 at 9:30 a.m. today denied that there had been any change of plan for the departure of the big British dirigible. He said the overseas start positively would not be made today.

On her return trip to her base in Scotland the British dirigible R-34 will take the southern course, leaving the United States at some middle Atlantic port and heading directly for Spain. This announcement and the further statement that the giant airship would leave her anchorage at Roosevelt Field here at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning on her homeward journey were definitely decided upon last night by Major G. H. Scott, commander of the dirigible.

At a conference with Lieutenant Colonel Frederick Lucas of the Royal Air Forces advance party and Brigadier General Edward G. Miatland, the official observer at noon today the request of the United States navy department that the R134 make a flight over New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington was to be considered. If weather conditions are favorable it is expected that these cities and possibly other cities of the mid Atlantic section may get a glimpse of the giant airship.

In order to relieve the 400 soldiers of the Seventh United States balloon company who were straining at the anchor ropes of the R-34 during an electrical and wind storm last night the big bag was raised to obviate the danger of damage from wind. During this operation a rope releasing wate ballast from an aft compartment was released by accident and the rear of the bag shot up into the air to an altitude of some 400 feet while her nose was only 200 feet above the field.

The R 34 remained in this position throughout the night and caused Major Scott to return to the field early today to distribute the water ballast in the bag to bring her to an even keel again.

Adjustments of the ballast had to be accomplished before the heat of the sun caused the gas in the bag to expand. The officers of the crew who scattered soon after their arrival yesterday to nearby hotels and to New York City were ordered to report at eleven o'clock this morning while others of the crew were at liberty until one o'clock.

Members of the crew who remained here last night explained that the failure of the R-34 to receive proper weather reports caused her to run into two storms off New Foundland. The weather reports picked up were from the vicinity of the Azores Island where those from the north Atlantic region were very meagre. With reports telling of the storm area some 200 miles north by northeast of New Foundland, the R-34 it was said would have altered her course to north of the circle of wind and proceeded over northern New Foundland and the Nova Scotia coast and thereby would have avoided the storm between New Foundland and Nova Scotia.

A weather report received at the field from Washington early today said:

"The weather will become clear by Monday morning and remain clear during succeeding 48 hours. Wind will be west and northwest steady and will not exceed twenty miles per hour. Advise probable time of return trip so that forecast can be made accordingly."

All persons other than those on duty in the immediate vicinity of the R-34

Coblenz, July 6. Robert Minor, the American newspaper correspondent, who has been under detention here by army authorities pending an investigation, has been released, it was learned today. No formal announcement was made but officers said the case had been dropped on orders from higher authorities.

It is announced that Minor will return to Paris, where he was arrested a month ago by the French at the request of the British. The latter refused to prosecute him turning over certain alleged evidence to the American authorities. It is said that this was in connection with an alleged conspiracy to spread radical propaganda among soldiers within the British and American areas.

HOGS AGAIN HIT NE WHIGH PRICE

Chicago, July 7.—After breaking the high price record three times last week. The hog market today continued its upward course. New top quotations were established at $22.40 a hundred weight, as against an average cost of $21.53 on Thursday, since when there had been no trading until this morning.

Sensational advances in the price of corn took place today largely owing to the steep ascent in the value of hogs. The sharpest ascent of corn was for the July delivery, which made a nearly vertical jump of 7 cents to $1.94 a bushel. It was said manufacturers were able to dispose of corn products on a basis equal to more than $2 a bushel for corn.

CHILD DIES OF BURNS RECEIVED JULY 4TH

Burns suffered on July 4th, caused the death this morning at 5 o'clock of Anna Hoish the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoish, who live at the corner of Third and Holiday streets. Fitzpatrick a neighbor heard her scream and ran to her and tore her clothing from her body. The whole left side of the body was burned and Dr. W. C. Rank tried every means to save the child's life but the burns were so large and serious that little could be done.

PRECURSOR OF THE PIANO

The harpsichord was a stringed musical instrument in use in the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries, which in its form and in the arrangement of the keyboard and strings resembled a piano, but in which the tone was produced by the plucking or snapping of the strings by leather or quill points, which were set in jacks connected by levers with the keys. In form it usually resembled a modern grand pianoforte, though both square and upright varieties were also made. The length of the keyboard was four to six and a half octaves. The number of separate strings to a key varied from one to four, sometimes including one tuned an octave above the others; the latter variety was called a double harpsichord. The tone was weak and tinkling, and gradation of force was impossible. Two keyboards were sometimes combined, one for soft effects; the other for loud. Numerous devices, usually connected with the jacks, were introduced at different times to secure variety in force, and especially in quality. These mechanisms, which often aimed to simulate the tone qualities of various orchestral instruments, were usually controlled by stopknobs near the keyboard. The harpsichord, though essentially different from the pianoforte, was its immediate predecessor. Before 1800 it was regularly used in all dramatic music, especially in accompanying recitatives and in orchestral music. The conductor usually directed from his seat at a harpsichord placed amid the other instruments.

WORK OF MONKS IN EXILE

Congregation of Armenian Christians Has Diffused Knowledge of Country's Language and Literature.

The Mechitarist monks are a small congregation of Armenian Christians who were exiled from their native land at the beginning of the eighteenth century. The church in Armenia had long been divided into bitterly hostile camps over the question of the nature of Christ, and when the Mechitarists entered into communion with the Church of Rome in 1712 the Armenian patriarch succeeded in driving them from the country. They took up their residence in the Morea, but they had again to flee before the advance of the conquering Turk, and in 1715 they established themselves in Venice, on the Island of San Lazzaro. Here they set up a printing press and gathered together a large and valuable library of oriental works. Their name is derived from Mechtar da Petro, who founded a religious society at Constantinople about the year 1700, and who aimed at uplifting the intellectual and spiritual conditions of his countrymen, and at diffusing a knowledge of the old Armenian language and literature. The colony of exiles during their sojourn in Venice has printed most of the classic writings in Armenian literature and translated the works of Eusebius, Philo and other writers.

Geography Sixty Years Old.

The rapid development of geography as a college study, since its first appearance in a university curriculum, about half a century ago, is discussed by Prof. R. H. Whitbeck of the University of Wisconsin, in a recent article on "Geography in American and European Universities," published in the Journal of Geography. He points out the following interesting facts:

In 1860 Harvard and Princeton were the only American universities offering courses in geography.

Cornell and University of Wisconsin introduced the subject in 1868, and Yale followed in 1872. In 1900 only 12 American universities taught the subject, but by 1910 thirty-one universities were offering a variety of 142 courses.

With 704 students enrolled in geography, the University of Wisconsin led all others in 1910. With 1,060 enrolled in 1917, it led all others except the University of Pennsylvania. It now offers seven courses in physical and economic geography, climatology and other phases of the subject.

Sung by Request.

They were having a company sing in a "Y" building. The song leader, a lieutenant, asked if there was any particular song the men wished to sing.

The company funny boy, thinking to produce a laugh, yells out: "Let's sing Molly, get the hammer, there's a fly on baby's head."

"Very well," said the lieutenant; "suppose you come up and sing it a few times, so that we may learn it." And, amid jeers of his companions, he was forced to get up before the company and sing that single line over and over again, making up the tune as he went.

Discard London Town Houses.

For hundreds of years members of England's wealthy class have maintained their splendid town houses in London. But today, with the perfecting of the automobile and the increased convenience of apartment and hotel, there is a growing tendency to break with tradition and maintain only the country home. This fashionable backto the land movement is expected to have royal sanction, too, as the king and queen will use beautiful old Windsor castle, 25 miles from London, this season, much more than Buckingham palace in the city.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

MURAD

THE TURKISH CIGARETTE

"A ROSE by any other name would smell as sweet"—but cigarettes of any other tobacco than Turkish don't smoke as enjoyably.

The reason Murads are demanded by thousands of smokers is that they are made of 100% pure Turkish tobacco—the world's most famous tobacco for cigarettes—and so conceded.

Haggard, unshaven, their eyes bloodshot from the long vigil and lines of care hitten deep into their faces, Major G. H. Scott, the commander, and his officers showed plainly the effects of the anxious hours through which they lived yesterday while they were cruising over the far reaches of Canada and the Bay of Fundy, beset by fog, heavy winds and terrific electrical storms.

"It seemed as though the atmosphere was haunted by 5000 devils," said Lieutenant Gus Harris, the meteorological officer.

With the R 34 long overdue at its destination petrol supply running low and buffeted by strong head winds, Major Scott decided yesterday while over the Bay of Fundy to send a wireless call to the American navy department to be prepared to give assistance if it were needed. This was merely a measure of precaution and did not indicate discouragement. While destroyers and salvage line chasers were racing to her assistance the R 34 was plunging steadily ahead on the way to Mineola. On the edge of the Bay of Fundy, the atmosphere besides which had beset the craft from the time it took the sea was gradually left in its wake.

The R 34 headed southwest out across the Atlantic along the coast of Maine, her nose pointed for Cape Cod with the United States destroyer Ramapo keeping on her tail and in constant wireless communication with her. Headed straight for Montauk Point, she ran true and before the tip end of Long Island was reached it was decided to go on to Mineola. With the goal almost in sight the R 34 flew majestically above the island and headed straight down the center of it for Roosevelt Field, five miles away.

As she cruised over Roosevelt Field dirigible came within range of the wireless telephone installed at Roosevelt Field by the navy radio experts and perfect communication was established. During the night the wireless calls from the R 34 were received by the navy radio station in New York.

Famo Makes Heads Clean and Healthy

Science knows that seborrhea causes falling hair, dandruff and finally baldness.

It dissolves the dandruff and makes the hair and scalp clean and healthy.

The seborrhea germ attacks the hair roots and unless it is checked, kills the hair.

Famo kills the germ and makes new healthy hair grow.

It gives a new lustre and sheen to the hair and stops falling hair and itchy scalp.

No massage of the scalp is necessary, as Famo is absorbed as soon as applied.

All toilet goods counters sell Famo in two sizes—a small size at 35 cents and an extra large size for $1.00.

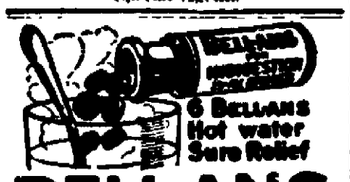

Your money will be returned if the large size does not satisfy.

Seborrhea is a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrheaic excretion forms in scales and flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

CENSORS REJECT FILM OF WILLARD'S DEFEAT

Columbus July 7.—The Willard-Dempsey fight pictures may never be seen by the public

In Ohio, at least, they will no the placed on exhibit The Ohio censor board today officially rejected the pictures as being unfit to be exhibited in public

The probability of the picture being shown in other states is believed to depend upon what construction is to be placed upon the Rodenberg act which prohibits prizefight pictures being handled in interstate commerce.

If the Rodenberg act does not bar pictures of boxing bouts and the Willard Dempsey fight is construed under the act as boxing bout then it is believed here that the pictures may be shown in other states if approved by the state censor boards

Under the Ohio state law the fight was considered to be a boxing match

Light and Dark of Moon.

Popularly, the moon is called new when, after passing the sun, she first becomes visible as a thin crescent. Some persons say the light of the moon is from this time until the moon is full. Others say that the light of the moon is during the few days when the moon appears to be full. The dark of the moon is also thought by some to extend from the full moon until no moon is visible. Popularly, however, the moon is dark during the few days of invisibility when near conjunction with the sun.

Violets.

There are many myths and legends connected with the violet, which has been considered the good luck flower by many nationalities. The Astrologer.

An astrologer, who was famed for his great learning and his knowledge of the stars, went out for a walk. As he walked, all the time looking up at the sky, he said to himself: "Oh, how much wiser am I than most men. All the secrets of the stars are known to me. I read them as other men read books. . . ." Thus speaking, he came to a well, but, being far too busy praising his own cleverness to notice it, he tripped and fell in headlong, and there he had to stay until his servant, hearing his cries, came and pulled him out.—Aesop's Fables.

SALVADOR PROPOSES PLAN TO COSTA RICA

San Salvador, Republic of Salvador, July 7—The Salvadorean government, through its minister of foreign affairs, has sent a note to the governments of Guatemala Honduras and Nicaragua proposing mutual friendly action with reference to the establishment of peace in their sister republic of Costa Rica

The note points out that "because of misforunes in her institutional life," Costa Rica finds herself in a deeply disturbed condition and proposed that the other Central American republics bend their efforts toward the complete normalization of international affairs in Central America and the restoration of harmony within Costa Rica borders

Peculiar Hawaiian Flowers.

It is known that upon many of the summits of the high mountain ridges of the Hawaiian islands, in the regions of heavy rainfall, are open bogs which support a peculiar and interesting flora. Many species form more or less hemispherical tussocks which rise above the general level of the bog. A showy lobelia with numerous large cream-colored flowers as much as three and a half inches long, peculiar violets and a sundew are found there.

Wood in Demand.

The unique timber of Turkey and a few other localities—the fine, hard-grained, compact boxwood so much prized for engravings, rules, etc., is now so scarce that the forest products laboratory in Wisconsin is seeking American substitutes. Only the Florida boxwood and the wahoo of Arkansas and other parts of the South approach nearly. Other hardwoods suitable for some of the coarser uses include mastic, torchwood, witch hazel, great rhododendron, mountain laurel, thornapple and yellow buckeye.

The Way of the Fool.

A fool is one who goes through life with his eyes open but sees not the things his eyes were intended to see. Instead of passing to one side of trouble, he bumps into it, runs headlong into brambles and gets stuck in mire. And sometimes he walks right into the arms of fortune or happens to be Johnny on the spot when favors are being distributed. But his streaks of luck are so thin as compared with the thickness of his worries and disappointments that they seem to be hardly worth considering.

RECLAIMING WASTE.

The United States department of commerce has taken up the campaign for reclaiming waste and this is to be organized all over the country. The people of Newark should give hearty co-operation.

In the old free days of low prices and abundant help the United States spent its resources with prodigal lack of thrift. It seemed easier to dig new metal out of the ground and raise new products from the soil than to save the old material already in existence.

These old abundant days are gone and the government asks people to save paper rubber metals etc. But if you throw such stuff indiscriminately into a general barrel of waste it may not be worth picking over. It is just as easy to classify it in different receptacles. The result is not merely that you can get a considerable price from the junk man. If everyone co-operates it must help keep down the price of manufactured products which rise because of scarcity of material.

Great forests have to be cut down to supply the paper demand that could be saved if the enormous destruction of paper stock could be stopped. The majority of people already save their old newspapers which has done a lot to hold down the price which already is far too high.

But an enormous waste is still going on of old envelopes letters circulars wrapping paper etc. This material has to be arranged in neatly tied packages to be salable. [illegible] cord lengthwise in a box [illegible] two cords crosswise. Line the bottom and sides of the box with paper then fill up with odd paper [illegible]. Top off the box with [illegible] up the cords and you have a salable package. The American people must learn many thrift methods like this.

CROCODILE TEARS FOR CHINA.

(Springfield Republican)

China has a sound moral case regarding Shantung, but when Senators Johnson and Borah weep hot tears of indignation over China's treatment one's feelings get mixed. What do they really care about the Chinese? Is not the dear old Chinese exclusion law of this country due to the states they represent? Propose the repeal of the exclusion law and the fondness now shown for China by the senators would evaporate like the morning dew in the warm sun.

If China were suddenly to become a strong national state like Japan able to protect her own interests from outside aggression the Johnsons and Borahs would go into convulsions over the yellow peril. Do they want the United States to fight Japan in order to protect China? That might be a good question for them to answer. Their opposition to a racial equality clause in the covenant of the League of Nations indicated that they love the Chinese like the Japanese only at a distance.

Neither England nor France ever had a better moral claim to territorial holdings on the Chinese coast than Germany had and the German claims which the Japanese have now taken over virtually by conquest were based on an act of robbery. A Mexican will tell you that the United States claim to California [illegible] Johnson's state also rests on [illegible].

RESUMPTION AFTER WAR.

(By Henry Clews.)

Signing the peace treaty aroused very little enthusiasm the joy of the occasion having fully exhausted itself at the armistice while the ceremony at Versailles simply confirmed a long expected event. Germany takes her humiliation very gravely. Reparation for damages which Germany had expected the allies to pay will impose a heavy burden upon the people but not more than she could pay. A considerable portion of the indemnity will be raised by ships minerals and other property which by treaty terms she must turn over. Such payments will lessen the amount to be paid in taxes treasure or bonds. The allies have certainly not overlooked the necessity of giving Germany a fair chance to resume work in order to pay off her enormous obligations. Of course the German people have a series of hard lean years before them which are simply just and deserved retribution. But Germany has great resources and doubtless when passion has subsided and more normal feelings return her people will regain much of their material prosperity. A contrite Germany would [illegible] such an end more than anything else and if Germany really wishes to recover her prosperity and re-establish her standing among nations she must make amends cheerfully and cultivate the spirit of friendship in all sincerity rather than the vicious spirit of haste and worship of force which wrought the ruin and wrecked a great empire. Germany deliberately threw a monkey wrench into the world's economic machinery with results infinitely more disastrous to herself than to any of her enemies.

From a purely economic standpoint the commercial world though straightening itself out is more or less topsy turvy. Abnormal conditions created by war seem to disappear very slowly and our business machinery has not yet had time to recover from the confusion created by government control nor adjust itself to automatic regulation. It will be some time before government control is entirely eliminated either here or abroad. In Europe a large measure of such regulation will be necessary for many months to come probably until supply catches up with demand which means much hard work and continued patience. In this country the same holds true though in a less degree because we have not felt the pangs of hunger and much of the government regulation had for its chief end the assistance of our allies. While these unusual conditions last the law of supply and demand cannot work with its usual and beneficent freedom for some restraint is needed upon the greed that profits upon the misfortunes of others and [illegible] as they are the free operation of economic law is unavoidably suspended or made very irregular. [illegible] the ratification of the peace treaty which [illegible] until formal ratification by all the countries concerned [illegible] President Wilson proclaims peace the United States will technically [illegible] with Germany and the Trading With the Enemy Act forbidding commercial intercourse will remain in force [illegible] beyond the range of probability that a partial resumption of trade with Germany may be permitted before all technical requirements are complied with.

You have only to get personally acquainted with the expert Camel blend to know that you prefer it to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

For your own satisfaction compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine paper covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

Telephone Service.

REVIEW OF TELEPHONE COSTS.

We have printed the cost to the consumer of his telephone service as furnished by this company. We have done this in great detail and have shown where each penny of the $1.50 paid by more than 50 per cent of our customers—the four-party line user—goes and also where the $3.50 paid each month by a business line user goes. We have given the same figures for the month of April, 1918.

These cost figures we have discussed in detail, with frankness and candor. We hope we have made plain the whole subject of where the money goes; we have tried to. If we haven't ask us questions.

It will be observed that the increase in telephone costs have been caused chiefly by the increase in maintenance costs and traffic costs, general expenses and taxes. The increase to the stockholder has been very slight and that slight increase has been caused by increased investment and not by increase of interest or dividend rate. Maintenance, traffic and general expense are made almost entirely of wages—money paid to people for work.

The conclusion is inevitable—the present telephone rate is higher than the former rate only because the people who do the work get more money than they did when the old rate was in force. Whether they are entitled to more money or need more money, can be settled by the telephone user comparing his own wages or salary with what he used to have, and the demands now and then.

HOW THEY SERVE MINT JELL.

Roast lamb has always called for mint sauce. That means buying fresh mint and making a sauce. And often it was forgotten.

A culinary expert says that the modern way is to use Mint Jeffy-Jell. The Jeffy-Jell comes in powder form and is green. A sealed vial in the package contains the mint flavor—an extract from fresh mint leaves.

Add boiling water to the Jiffy-Jell. Then add the mint flavor from the vial. Let the jell cool in a single mold, or in individual molds. The result is a green jell rich in fresh-mint flavor, to serve with roast lamb or cold meats.

Mint Jiffy-Jell can be kept on hand. And a package makes a pint of mint jell at a cost of 12½ cents. It is said that housewives who once try it will abondon old-style mint sauce.

A Set of Six for Jiffy-Jell Real-Fruit Desserts

Jiffy-Jell is for salads as well as for desserts. And we offer this 50-cent aluminum mold for use in making salads.

Use Lime Jiffy-Jell for salads. Each package contains a bottle of lime-fruit essence, sealed. Added to Jiffy-Jell it makes a tart, green salad jell.

Some serve it with the salad as a zestful garnish. Some mix the salad into the jell while cooling. With cooked or uncooked vegetables this makes a salad loaf.

A meat loaf is made by mixing in meat scraps. This gives you meat in aspic—an ideal summer cold dish.

We Supply the Mold

Pint Mold, Style D, serves a full package of Lime Jiffy-Jell with the salad or meat mixed in. It makes a flat loaf with six indentations to mark six individual servings.

Send us five end labels from Jiffy-Jell packages—the end labels naming the flavor—and we'll send you this aluminum mold.

Mint Jiffy-Jell contains a vial of mint. It makes a garnish jell, far better than mint sauce, to serve with cold meats or roast lamb.

All Flavors in Liquid Form in Glass

This is a 60-cent gift. These aluminum molds come in sets of six, assorted styles, valued at 10 cents each.

Send us five end labels from Jiffy-Jell packages—the end labels naming the flavor—and we will send the entire set.

Loganberry and Pineapple are two dessert flavors which we particularly want you to try. They are flavors which must be sealed to keep. So they were impossible in old-style gelatine desserts.

In Jiffy-Jell the fruit-juice essence comes in liquid form, in vials. So with all fruit flavors. There is a wealth of the real-fruit flavor, condensed from the fruit itself.

Include Loganberry, Pineapple, Lime and Mint in your purchase of Jiffy-Jell. Learn the delights of these liquid flavors. They have won millions of housewives to Jiffy-Jell.

Never give our baby tastes of your food If he is old enough to have solid foods he should be on a regular diet adapted to his own age and with a regard to what he requires.

Dress your baby according to the temperature not according to the season of the year. If it is warm in May keep the baby cool and lightly dressed If it is cool in July put extra clothes on and see that its bowels are warm and wrapped well in flannel.

Thin loose clothing are best for summer but if there is a change there should be plenty of warm wraps all at hand for the wee baby.

For the first few weeks of the baby's life [illegible] there is no need for a bath [illegible] the baby is simply washed on the lap with a small basin close at hand [illegible] come [illegible] this purpose but [illegible] necessary [illegible] one [illegible] expensive [illegible] white enamel [illegible] will do for these first few weeks

[illegible] is necessary however when a real daily bath is given the need for something to put baby in arises. There are rubber bath tubs in white, suspended just the right height from a strong wooden frame. These little tubs are rather expensive and many cannot afford them. As a matter of fact, any smooth surfaced, large size pan of white enamel or porcelain ware will do just as well, and if it is put on a low chair or table, the baby can be bathed with comfort.

The best time for baby's bath is just before his nap, and in the forenoon. If he is too old for a nap, the bath is best to be given before bedtime. Then his sleep will be refreshing and cooling.

Milady's Boudoir

Curing Faded Hair.

When the color of the hair becomes so faded as to cause anxiety, the sufferer may be sure that the nervous system is not in the best order. She should seek, first of all, for the internal tonics and improved habits of life which will build up the body. Sulphur and iron taken internally, anointing the scalp at the same time with yolks of eggs, is a treatment endorsed by eminent physicians for restoring faded hair to its natural color, as these supply the minerals upon which the coloring matter of the hair is supposed to depend.

The following solution of iron applied externally is also advised by authorities for the same cause. Citrate of iron two drams, mix with two drams, coconut oil one and a half ounces and bay rum two ounces. This is especially good for dark hair as the iron produces a delicate stain. The scalp and hair should be moistened with the lotion about twice a week.

Regarding tonic dressings for the hair something that will [illegible] the high gloss now demanded by fashion the simplest are pomades [illegible] better as all hair dressings tend to clog the scalp after a while.

A dressing which will give the hair a look of richness and besides increase its strength and growth is made of two ounces of [illegible] and two ounces of pure castor oil. If the cologne is made of pure spirits it will dissolve the oil completely leaving a lotion clear and sweet. So it is necessary to get the purest cologne possible, as the cheaper ones are worthless for this purpose, only the best blending with the oil.

Wall Street.

New York, July 7.—Steels led all other issues at the strong and active opening of today's stock market, heavy buying orders for those shares having accumulated over the triple holiday. Gains of one to three per cents were made by Crucible, Bethlehem, Republic and United States Steel. Allied Industrials and Equipments also scoring substantial advances. Rubber, tobacco and food shares rose materially over last week's final prices and General Motors made up more than its 3 per cent dividend. Shippings and metals hardened but inquiry for rails was comparatively light.

Approximately 500,000 shares changed hands in the first hour with no appreciable slackening of the feverish at noon. Steels continued to feature the advance but other speculative shares were not far behind, notably the motor, copper, oil, tobacco and food groups. Stutz Motors led the list adding 20 points to last Thursday gains and relative heaviness was shown by rails and several specialties for the time for the most part remained strong. Call money opened at 6 to 6 1-2.

PRIMROSE CRITICALLY ILL.

San Diego, Cal., July 7.—George H. Primrose, who acquired fame and popularity a generation ago as a dancer with the minstrel show of Primrose & West, is seriously ill in a hospital here, his physicians announced today there is small chance for his recovery. Primrose is 66 years of age.

No Wonder.

Mrs. Jobling—"I don't know what is the matter with this clock, but it won't go." Her husband looked at it, then oiled it, and blew in it with the bellows, but it would not go, and he went to bed. The next morning his wife said: "Henry, I know what is the matter with the clock." "Well, what?" asked her husband. "It wants winding!" she said.

Some Story.

Said the mournful man, "Someday, somebody, somewhere, somehow will get an inspiration and in the fervor of the hour will write a chunk of fiction that doesn't contain the word sordid, doesn't refer to the flotsam and jetsam of life and excludes all persons with hectic flushes."

Violet Highly Prized.

The violet was the national flower of the Athenians, and the men of Athens were frequently addressed by their orators as "Athenians crowned in violets." The Romans believed the flower had medicinal qualities, and Pliny advised a garland of violets about the forehead would cure headache or dizziness.

OLD LICKING LEADS WITH ONLY 8 WEEKS OF SHAFT CONTEST

The Victory Shaft contest will close in eight weeks. Licking county now leading all other counties in Ohio by a comfortable margin can win this $10,000 prize if everybody will do his best. War Savings Stamp sales will win the prize shaft. Buy stamps in July and August.

Winning the Victory Shaft will give Licking county a national reputation. It will put this county in the 100 per cent class so far as its war activity is concerned and it will increase the wealth of the county as buying W. S. S. is just like putting one's money in bank at a fat rate of interest.

Licking county can win the Victory Shaft. The way to do it is to buy W. S. S. to the limit of one's ability and spread the message. The county is today leading every other county in Ohio. Buy W. S. S. and keep Licking in the lead.

Mrs. H. E. Anderson who is a member of Mrs. T. J. Appleton's W. S. S. organization, sold 200 stamps to Helen M. Goodwin, 80 West Church street, Saturday. Mrs. Anderson has been very active and successful in the Women's War Savings Stamp campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel C. Shelton today joined the 1919 W. S. S. Limit Club each buying 200 War Savings Stamps. They did the same thing last year. That's the way to help win the Licking county the Victory Shaft. This stamp sale was made by Mrs. Louis Wolf who is a member of Mrs. J. A. Mitchell's organization.

Was giddy-headed, had dizzy spells, and bad taste in his mouth always—Dreco was the only thing that ever helped him.

"My husband often went around like a drunken man, and for the past two or three years has suffered very much from swimming in the head, dizziness and giddy headed," said Mrs. A. E. Gross, a well known and popular lady, who resides at Hindman, Pa.

"When these spells struck him," she continued, "he would have to stop whatever he was doing and sit down for fear of falling. His breath was foul and he had a bad taste in his mouth all the time. His food often disagreed with him, and sour gas would form up, and cause much pain which extended around to his back. He was nervous and his sleep was broken ... Centenary Celebration Columbus

Ohio

Remember this great Centenary Celebration closes its gates on Sunday, July 13th.

In one of my former articles I mentioned briefly the fact that the Centenary Celebration, Columbus, exhibited in the Oval Ampitheatre, where fifty thousand people are seated comfortably—THE LARGEST SCREEN IN THE WORLD, taking up a space 133x135 feet—also that a projecting machine—the most powerful in the world—threw picture slides of size 105 feet square on this screen.

You cannot realize what a remarkable thing this is unless you see it—but more remarkable than the screen itself, or the size of the pictures shown, IS THE CHARACTER OF THE PICTURES DISPLAYED.

I saw these pictures shown on Friday night, June 27th, for the first time—and the thousands of people who saw the pictures also, judging from their expressions of approval, electrified them as much as they did me and, furthermore, the contrast of the pictures shown stamped indelibly on our minds the great transformation that takes place when human kindness is employed to elevate unfortunate humanity.

They tell me that some students of the Ohio State University, which is a considerable distance from the State Fair Grounds, Columbus, where the Centenary Celebration is being held—saw very distinctly the other night the pictures shown on this great screen. They marveled at them and enjoyed them just as we who were close by marveled at them and enjoyed them.

Some startling phrases were thrown on the screen. Among them were the following:

"There are enough boys and girls under fifteen years of age in the world to make six nations as large as the United States. Six hundred million and not an individual over fifteen years old."

"Dr. Speer calls Chile a 'killing ground for little children.' Seventy-five to eighty per cent of the children die under two years of age and the general rate of mortality is nearly double that of Europe."

"Half the world is illiterate and unable to read or write a word in any language. The church is helping solve this problem by her great program of education."

Startling facts, are they not? Don't you see the great need of the work to be done in foreign lands by the Methodist organization and all other organizations?

As ex-President Taft said in his remarkable speech in the Coliseum, where the Centenary Celebration stages wonderful events besides the GREAT PAGEANT that attracts nightly seventy-five hundred people—

"Did God give us the wonderful opportunities we have and the great blessings and prosperity we enjoy here to be selfish, or did He thus endow us so that we might help all of the peoples of the world?"

The pictures shown on the big screen portray in the most effective way, the great advancement made in developing the peoples in foreign lands, mentally, morally and physically.

Surely all red-blooded Americans enjoying the great privileges of life to a greater degree than the people of any other nation in the world, wish to share their advantages with others. They have demonstrated this desire in their liberal support of the Centenary cause and all other causes having the same big purpose in view.

During the remainder of the Centenary Celebration the great moving picture companies of America are to occasionally show their productions in the enlarged form demonstrated by the great projecting machine devised by the Centenary management for this special occasion. This will be an unusual thing to do something never before attempted by the Motion Picture people.

I wonder if you know that scientists told the Centenary management that it would be impossible to ever throw a picture on a screen 105 feet square, yet the thing was accomplished after constant effort.

For many months this projecting machine was used in displaying pictures on a large building in Grammercy Park, New York, and scientists laughed and the scoffers scoffed when they said America must someday see the biggest screen in the world... [illegible]

You must see this wonderful exposition, become enthused and absorbed with it as I have been and then you will have no regret.

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM.
"A Man of Honor."

At the Auditorium today and tomorrow will offer the last picture made by the late Harold Lockwood, a Screen Classics and made by Metro. This is positively his last and only feature... [illegible] ... "A Man of Honor" he is seen as David Smith and in the cast are the following well known Metro players: Bessie Eyton, Stanton Heck, William Clifford, Bert Starkey, Gordon McGregor, Pomeroy Cannon and others. The story:

Mortimer Grace, adventurer, discovers Horse Island, a place of great fertility, while searching for pirate treasure in the semi-tropics. Returning to New York he induces a group of promoters to form the Tropical Products Co., with himself as managing director, to transform the tangled wildness of the island into a vast farm.

During the years of his directorship he fails to fulfil any of the promises he held out for the island's development. Before his death he confesses to his assistant, David Smith, Yale '09, ex-newspaper reporter, that the scheme was only a fraud to fleece the public. Upon assuming the directorship, Smith determines that part of the money which has been poured into it from the pockets of small stockholders shall be paid back. After two years of tireless effort he makes the venture profitable. The company, however, is dissatisfied with his report instead of a truthful account of conditions a "bear" report is wanted. The scheme is a plan to... Smith as another means to defraud the rightful owners of the island, and he decides to fight it. Beramont refuses to be swayed by justice and reason.

A comedy, also the Pathe News are seen also.

Pathe News.

The Pathe News shown today at the Auditorium shows the following most interesting happenings of the world: Boston, Mass., Tremendous welcome of "Irish President," over 40,000 hear De Valera urge Ireland's cause; Fergus Falls, Minn., Cyclone whirls death and destruction, Dublin, Ireland, Alcock and Brown, crowds acclaim the daring of these daring fliers; London also turns out for them; Returning troops land at Hoboken from Archangel; motorcycle races at Los Angeles.

"Mirandy Smiles."

It is some time since William C. De Mille has directed a picture and those who have missed his fine artistic work will welcome him back with "Mirandy Smiles," Vivian Martin's new Paramount picture, which will be shown at the Auditorium theatre next Wednesday. Mr. De Mille shows us once more the skill of his direction and his ability to introduce quiet human touches as the story develops... [illegible]

Four beautiful girls who understand... of the Greek dance and whose movements are as graceful as Chaplin's are grotesque, assist him in the crossing of dances which are given with a beautiful sylvan background. This is but one of many beauties of "Sunnyside." The engagement is for three days.

"Believe Me, Xantippe."

Ann Little, an actress of unusual... and charm, is the vis-a-vis to Wallace Reid in his latest Paramount photoplay, "Believe Me, Xantippe," which is to be presented at the Auditorium theatre next Friday and Saturday. In the role of a sheriff's daughter, Miss Little's talents are admirably displayed. She is a charming courageous, quick witted girl, who can handle a gun and ride a horse like a man, but for all these qualities her femininity is her chief charm. In "Believe Me, Xantippe" she gives a delightful interpretation of the part of Dolly Kamman, who, while minding one day after having bagged a deer, is confronted by a stranger. She asks him if he is hungry and he replies, "Believe me, Xantippe, I am." This remark reminds her of a poster... she has read, announcing that this forger, for whom a reward is offered, is known chiefly by the use of this expression and with the aid of her shotgun she strikes him her prisoner.

GRAND.
Today.

Miss Billy Rhodes will appear in her very pleasing screen story "Hoopla" this evening at the Grand for the last time. This story is filled with human interest and was thoroughly enjoyed yesterday by large crowds. Also will be shown Fatty Arbuckle and Mabel Normand in "His Wild Night."

Harry Morey Coming.

Harry T. Morey will appear in his latest picture, "Fighting Destiny," at the Grand tomorrow and Wednesday afternoon and evenings. This story is one of a man's hard fight to win a woman's love and the scenes carry the audience with them through the upper and lower crusts of society. There will also be shown Earl Rodney and Ethel Lynne in "Apartment 23."

Next Saturday marks the coming of the first of a series of pictures recently released from the Vitagraph studios, which collectively tell the story of the "Perils of Thunder Mountain."

Bill Apperson's Boy."

"Bill Apperson's Boy," in which Jack Pickford will be seen at the Alhambra theatre, starting today, is a story showing a keen insight in the ways of the Blue Ridge mountaineer. It is based on the story, "That Woman," by Hapsburg Liebe, a writer who has long lived in that vicinity and dozens of whose... [illegible] choke a horse. An eccentric relative has left her a large fortune with the absurd proviso that no one should know anything about it, he desiring that she be loved for herself alone. The idea may have been a wise one, but in this case it led to most painful complications.

A love romance soon develops between the camouflage heiress and Chester, the husky and noble hearted blacksmith next door. Unfortunately Chester knows nothing about Louise's bank roll so that when sweet Phyllis drops in on the scene, his heart palpitates wildly and he falls head and ears in love with her.

Chester's assistant is a sly chap and when he accidently learns of Louise's good fortune, he develops a warm attachment for her. When Chester finally learns the truth, his anguish is terrible to behold. He has thrown away his great chance, for Louise turns him down when he comes to her repentant because she realizes that her illusion has passed and that all men are deceivers. Hence, she throws over Cupid and abandons herself to spinsterhood, her loneliness considerably consoled by the size of her bank account. The comedy was shown at the Auditorium theatre yesterday and will be seen today for the last time at the Alhambra.

Putting One Over.

Leading commentators on dramatic construction generally agree that the truest form of comedy is that in which a thread of serious sentiment intrudes from time to time in which the prevailing smile or laughter is halted occasionally by something akin to moisture of the eye.

According to this... [illegible] ...tion of this sort... it lends a peculiar charm to the vehicle of George Walsh in "Putting One Over," the new William Fox photoplay which is announced to open at the Alhambra theatre next Wednesday.

GEM
Today.

The many admirers of Vivian Martin the dainty Paramount star, who were delighted with her recent photoplays shown at our theatre, notably "Unclaimed Goods," have another treat in store for them when Miss Martin's latest photoplay, "Viviette," a picturization of William J. Locke's delightful novel of the same name, is presented at our playhouse today.

In this superb picture, Miss Martin is seen as a beautiful, impulsive, thoughtless girl, who is loved by three men, one of them a primitive man of that description calculated to stir the heart-strings of almost any impressionable young woman.

COULD READILY BELIEVE IT

Stage Driver Quite Willing to Accept "Keeper's" Explanation as He Understood It.

The New Englander uses the word "natural" to describe one who was unfurnished at birth with the usual and indispensable quantity of brains. Prof. Burt G. Wilder, the distinguished zoologist, tells an amusing story that turns on a countryman's mistaking the unfamiliar word "naturalist" for the familiar word "natural."

A few years after his arrival in America, Agassiz was one of a small party of Harvard professors who traversed the White Mountain region in a carriage driven by the countryman. Three of them were vivacious, restless, and on the lookout for specimens. They would call a halt, leap from the vehicle before it stopped, dash over the fields, and return with prizes in their boxes, in their hands and pockets, and even pinned upon their hats. The fourth, Prof. Felton, the brother-in-law of Agassiz, sat quietly in his corner of the carriage reading a favorite Greek author.

When the bewildered driver could stand it no longer be elicited from Felton information that led him to view the behavior of the others with compassionate toleration. At the close of the day he thus conveyed his interpretation to the innkeeper:

"I drove the queerest lot you ever saw. They chattered like monkeys. They wouldn't keep still. They jumped the fences, tore about the fields, and came back with their hats covered with bugs. I asked their keeper what ailed them; he said they was naturals, and, judgin' from the way they acted, I should say they was."—Youths' Companion.

MUCH DIFFERENCE IN HUMOR

Brand Highly Thought Of in One Country Is Not Always Appreciated in Others.

When Coleridge said, "No mind is thoroughly well organized that is deficient in the sense of humor," he expressed a conviction that seems common to all civilized men, and makes each nation take pride in its humor and perhaps suspect that other nations enjoy a somewhat inferior brand. Yet comparisons of humor shows, broadly speaking, that the peoples of the world are much alike. In the Tourist, published in Tokyo, a Japanese author, for example, remarks that humor "is indeed the flower of life, and life without it would be as dreary as spring without its blossoms. To illustrate, he translates a number of Japanese anecdotes, "funny stories," as the United States might call them, but one does not smile over them. Neither, on second thought, does one smile over many of the "funny stories" in American magazines and newspapers. Humor which really amuses is everywhere rare and precious, a "flower of life," as the Japanese gentleman poetically puts it, but growing up in company with a great many weeds.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Quaker Bonnet.

I have heard that there is as much technique in the making of the bonnet of the olden pattern for the Friends as there is in the Japanese art of drinking tea. In Ohio there is a section that wears the Quaker garb with the bonnet; there is another in Iowa that still keeps to the characteristic costume; in New York in a settlement on both sides of Lake Cayuga are Friends who follow the simple, historic fashion; and in Fairhope, Ala., a single tax settlement very largely settled by Friends, are others. Much importance is attached to what is called the "expression" of the bonnet. In the very simplicity there is quite as much room for the manifestation of a particular taste as in the more elaborate millinery of "the world's people." Even to half a hair things must be right. The finished product comes in for a close critical scrutiny at every possible angle. The true Friend abhors display and self-advertisement, and, therefore, she does not care to have it known when a fresh bonnet is bought. That is why each must be the same as the one that preceded it.—Philadelphia Public Ledger

MAY PUT BAN ON FIGHT PICTURES

Censors Opposed to Exhibition of Pugelistic Film Where Children Can See Them.

Columbus, July 7. Rejection in its entirety with the result that Ohio movie and fight fans will be unable to witness the moving picture of the Willard-Dempsey fight is the probable fate of the film if the decision of one of the movie censors yesterday can be taken as a forecast of the action of at least one of the other members.

Maurice S. Hague, chairman of the censor board in the absence of his co-workers reviewed the picture and completely rejected it. Possibility of the film still being shown over his action, if the other two members would pass it later appeared to go glimmering last night when Mrs. Maude Murray Miller, also a member of the board, announced that although she had not seen the picture, in all probability she would reject it, as she did not approve of the exhibition of boxing contests or "prize fights" to children.

Mr. Hague in his statement yesterday said that "such human butchery should not be shown where our boys and girls may see it."

WILLARD RECOVERING FROM SEVERE BEATING

Toledo, July 7.—Offical check of the total gate receipts and attendance of the Jack Dempsey-Jess Willard heavyweight campionship contest is expected to be completed before tonight, Tex Rickard, promoter of the match announced today.

Rickard said he would be "considerably surprised" if the gate receipts exceeded $500,000. Erroneous rumors persisted yesterday and today that Willard was dead or was dying from the effects of the punishment Dempsey gave him. Newspaper offices were besieged with telephone calls from Cleveland and other Ohio cities as a result. One report was that the dethroned champ had died from a bursted blood vessel. Another unsupported report was that he had gone insane.

Willard intends to start on his motor trip to his home in Lawrence, Kansas, as quickly as his cut and bruised eye is healed. The swelling responded to ice applications and discoloration and a slight cut under the eye and a cut lip are the only remaining marks the former champion bears of the contest.

Promoter Rickard announced that the arena would be sold to the highest bidder. There are approximately 1,000,-000 feet of lumber in the saucer and it is expected the sale will net Rickard and his partner Frank Flourney a refund of about $10,000 on the $96,000 it cost to purchase the lumber.

Souvenir hunters started to tear down the structure yesterday and it was necessary to station twenty policemen to guard it.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES OPEN IN CLEVELAND

Cleveland July 7.—The eleventh renewal of the Edwards stake, for 2:08 pacers, featured the opening of the grand circuit harness racing season at North Randall today. Dan Hedgewood, Darvester, Maggie Wreath, Red Bearer and Ethel Chomes are among the fourteen entered to contest for the $3,000 purse.

Five events are one the card. The first is for 2:30 trotters, nine are carded to face the starter.

Other events include a 2:22 trot, with a field of fourteen; the Forest City two year old trot with six probable starters and a 2:06 pace, in which six are entered.

The track is in fine condition and without more rain it is predicted record breaking time will be made.

TWILIGHT GAMES ARE OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

The second round of play in the Twilight league will be completed this week. On account of the Rotarian-Kiwanis game Thursday night, the Hess-Midland game originally scheduled for that date will be played off Tuesday night. This will necessitate the Hess team playing two games in succession, on Monday and Tuesday. The Midland team finds itself in the same fix, playing Tuesday and Wednesday.

The B. & O. fans are stacking up their energy to root the climbing railroaders past the Pharis team when they clash in battle at White field Friday night. The Pharis team will probably have the same lineup as in its last game and will force the B. & O. boys to play the best kind of ball they know how. While record after record in attendance has been broken at the league games, Friday's crowd is expected to eclipse them all.

AUTO RACERS TO UNDERGO TESTS

Physician Will See That All Are In Good Physical Condition Before Allowed to Start Race.

The auto races to be held at the Moundbuilders' track, July 13, are attracting a great deal of attention among the auto race drivers and from early returns it would seem that the entry list will be large. Six outside entries have been received to date, and inquiries from as many more.

The Ohio Automobile Racing board will have charge of this meet and its rules will prevail. The board's ground man will be here early this week to see that the track fences and cars are in the best of condition and to eliminate as far as human effort can the possibility of accident to either spectators or drivers. His authority is supreme and he can expell at any time the driver who breaks one of the many stringent rules laid down by the board. One of the new rules for this year is that each participant in any auto race meet must undergo a physical examination. It has been proven that a great many accidents have been caused by drivers in poor condition. A Newark physician will be selected to make examinations.

S. G. Fielding, the man in charge of the local promotion will start to prepare the track in a few days, and by wetting, scraping and rolling, many times, it is claimed that it will be like a macadam roadway. This process will be completed in time so that the participants can get all the practice they require to acquaint themselves with the course.

ACTRESS ADOPTS FRENCH VETERAN WHO'S ONLY 14

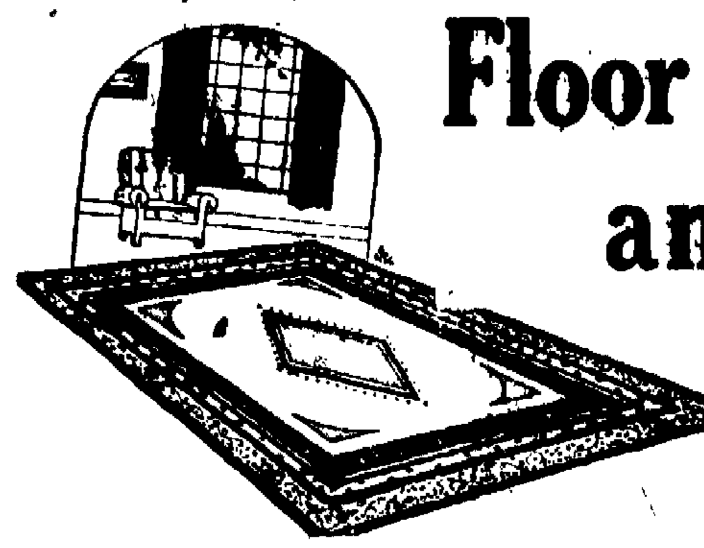

Elsie Janis just after her return from eighteen months overseas.

Capt. Elsie J[anis], who went overseas to entertain our fighting men and won enormous popularity, recently returned to this country and has now done something also which shows the bigness of her heart. She has adopted a French veteran, Michael Cardo, who is but fourteen years old. Michael arrived here as a stowaway and would have been sent back had not Miss Janis come to the rescue.
